AUXILIARY FOR COUNTY HOME IS ORGANIZED

Formation of an "Auxiliary to the Adams County Home" was effected Monday evening at a meeting held at St. James Lutheran church.

The organization is the outgrowth of a series of meetings held over the past year in which the need for some group to help "make the lives of residents of the county home richer and more comfortable" was discussed.

At those meetings it was pointed out that there is a need for some organization to devote itself to providing the things needed by the county home residents which cannot be provided by the county commissioners—such as fellowship, religious and cultural programs and the like.

The auxiliary unit set up Monday night named the Rev. Nevin R. Frantz, Arendtville, as president and the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, as secretary.

Members of the executive committee include the Rev. Mr. Frantz, the Rev. Dr. Gresh; the Rev. Richard Titley, Bendersville; the Rev. G. S. Stoneback, Fairfield; the Rev. Henry W. Sternat, Biglerville; the Rev. A. W. Geigley, Fairfield; the Rev. Arbe Dorsey, Biglerville R. D., and Mrs. R. S. Saby, Carlisle street.

Other members of the board of the auxiliary group include Miss Edna MacKnight, New Oxford; Mrs. Joel Zepp, York Springs R. D.; Mrs. Hope Morgan, Cashtown; Mrs. Frank N. Hewetson, Biglerville; Charles Gentzler, East Berlin; Harry T. Baker, Littlestown R. D.; B. B. Bowers, Littlestown R. D.; J. I. Hereter, Gettysburg, and Miss Margaret McMillan, Gettysburg.

The Rev. Mr. Frantz reported to the board on a recent visit by members of the executive committee to the county home and committees were appointed to explore the various ways by which the auxiliary may be of service to the people at the county home, particularly in filling their religious and social needs.

7 Japanese Given Respite

Tokyo, Nov. 30 (AP) — Wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and six other top Japanese warmakers won an eleventh hour respite today from the hangman's noose.

General Douglas MacArthur said they would "certainly not" be executed until the Supreme court of the United States has acted on appeals by two of the condemned men.

The next scheduled meeting of the Supreme court is December 6.

If the Supreme court rejects the appeal next Monday, as it did a similar petition by German war criminals, Japan's warmakers could be hanged December 7 on the seventh anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

The appeals from the International Military Tribunal's verdict were filed in Washington yesterday in behalf of former Premier Koki Hirota, who helped plot Japan's pre-Pearl Harbor war plans, and Gen. Kenji Doihara, known to the Chinese as the "Bird of Evil Omen."

SAYS ROTARY'S OBLIGATION IS BETTER WORLD

Rotary's responsibility is to make a better locality, country and world, M. C. Jones, first president of the local Rotary club told the members Monday evening at a Rotary Information meeting held in the YWCA.

Past President Jones, who has been a member of the local club since its founding 28 years ago, told the members that "one cannot truly appreciate what Rotary is doing unless one attends an international meeting. When you meet with men from all around the world—men of big affairs—and realize their sincerity and their desire to give of their time and effort to make a better world, then you can really appreciate what Rotary is striving for. And you come back from such conventions a better citizen than ever before, determined to do your share in making the world a better place in which to live."

News Collected At Random

"I Heard Of A River," a story of the Pennsylvania Germans by Elsie Singmaster (Lewars), is the latest historical novel for boys and girls nine to 15 in the "Land of the Free" series being published by The John C. Winston, company, Philadelphia.

"I Heard Of A River" is a part of America's heritage, the story of the German-Swiss Mennonites who settled in Lancaster county. At William Penn's invitation to establish themselves near Philadelphia, these people came to America, bringing with them their superb knowledge of agriculture and a grooved or rifed gun.

They came to the New World because all through their oppression in their homeland they had heard of a beautiful river in America, which we know as the Susquehanna, and whose verdant banks were the source of legend. They came to build a new life in this strange, unspoiled paradise.

"I Heard Of A River" is a story of Hannes, a German-Lutheran boy who joined a band of Swiss Mennonites fleeing from Europe's desperate terror and poverty of the 17th century. It is a story of the perils of Hannes' journey and the improvement of his rifle, brought from his fatherland.

A moving, stirring adventure of a people who found happiness in the freedom of America—this story is an intrinsic part of the courageous heritage of "The Land Of The Free."

It is impossible to measure, in dollars and cents, the amount of publicity Gettysburg received from the programs held here over the November 19th weekend—the two-day exposition of (Please Turn To Page 7)

Gettysburg Post Office Sets Record For Commemorative Stamp Sales Cancellations

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler announced this noon that the First Day of Sale for the Lincoln Gettysburg Address commemorative stamp and cancellation of First Day covers are completed.

Official figures announced by the postmaster indicate that Gettysburg's post office may have set a new record for stamp sales and cancellations. One million one hundred and forty thousand stamps were sold. 494,990 Covers were cancelled by machines and 17,000 others were hand-cancelled, making a total of 511,990 cancellations.

Veteran stamp collectors and dealers had previously announced that the record First Day commemorative cancellations totaled approximately 460,000. This places the Gettysburg Post Office in a record-shattering class by exceeding the previous mark by almost 52,000 cancellations.

First Day covers have been mailed to stamp collectors, dealers and others in practically every country in the world except Russia.

From the special crew of workers employed by Postmaster Oyler to handle the high volume of special mail, The Gettysburg Times has learned that First Day covers were mailed to Princess Elizabeth, future Queen of England, her sister Princess Margaret Rose, hundreds of movie actors and actresses, most of the governors in the country and to high dignitaries in most of the professions.

The Lincoln commemorative stamp marks the culmination of fifteen years' effort on the part of The Gettysburg Times. In 1933 The Times sought to have a commemorative stamp issued to commemorate the 70th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Again in 1938 an effort was made to secure a stamp to commemorate the 75th anniversary. The third attempt was successful, and it came about in an off-year, 35th, although it has long been the Post Office department's policy to issue commemorative stamps in cycles of 25, 50, 75 or 100 years. This is believed to be the first stamp ever issued in an "off" year. It is also the first stamp ever issued to commemorate an "Address."

Reds Set Up Puppet City Government In Berlin And Peril New UN Peace Move

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
Berlin, Nov. 30 (AP) — The Communists set up a hand-picked puppet government for Berlin today, completing the city's east-west division.

Unwilling to risk the results of a popular election, the Communists called a meeting of carefully selected leaders. This meeting by a show of hands elected a mayor and a magistrate (executive administration) claiming jurisdiction over the whole city.

This action by the Russian-backed Communists came as the United Nations considered a compromise proposal on currency which could lead to lifting of the Soviet blockade of western Berlin.

The Communist move in the Soviet sector made it virtually impossible for any agreement on currency to be carried out. The currency dispute is a key to the Berlin crisis. The Soviet Union now is in the position of making a gesture in Paris toward settling the Berlin crisis while sponsoring actions in Berlin which would make any agreement reached in Paris impossible of achievement.

The Communists named Friedrich Ebert, namesake son of the first Weimar republic president, as "mayor" of all Berlin.

Ebert promptly declared that the elections set for Sunday in the western sectors were null and void. The Communists have refused to take part in the regularly scheduled elections for all Berlin remembering their defeat in 1946, and have ordered their followers to boycott the voting in the western sectors.

After the meeting proclaimed a new city government, the demonstration spilled out into the Soviet sector of the city. Some 100,000 persons from factories and stores — which were shut down — marched along Unter Den Linden, where Hitler's troops once paraded.

The regularly elected anti-Communist city government, driven from city hall in the Soviet sector by Communist demonstrators, has been sitting in western Berlin.

The Communists, joined by a few splinter elements from other parties, set up their government at a mass meeting in Admirals Palast auditorium in the Soviet sector of the city.

SAYS PRIVATE EFFORT GUIDES WORKING LEVEL

"The amount of new capital from the earnings of private industry, and not government spending, determines the level of employment in this country," Loring Damm, a partner in the Eastman Dillon company, investment bankers, told the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening in a talk at the Shetter House.

"The country cannot live without increasing its capital nor can employment be kept up without it," Mr. Damm asserted. "Government capital won't do the job."

He quoted a recently completed survey on the relation between the increase in private investment capital, employment levels and government spending which he said showed a very close parallel between employment levels and new capital but disclosed no effect whatsoever upon employment by reason of the rapidly mounting volume of government spending since 1930.

Two Needs Of Capital

"Capital needs two things in order to go to work," Mr. Damm told his audience. "It needs a practical use that can meet competitive factors and it needs a satisfactory psychological attitude toward investment on the part of the people that own the capital. But we'll never get a good psychological atmosphere as long as Uncle Sam steadily encroaches upon the field of business."

"Capital doesn't expect as good a break as it might have gotten in the next four years or there wouldn't have been a selling off of stocks after the Truman victory," he declared and predicted a fast shrinkage in capital for plant growth in the next few years. The present comparatively low prices on the stock market are due in large part to government taxes on industry and to the lack of the right "psychological atmosphere," he asserted.

POSTMASTER GIVES TIPS ON XMAS MAILING

"The handling of Christmas mail will be greatly facilitated by careful preparation of the mail by the senders," says a post office department warning, issued today by Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler.

In order to help both themselves and the post office employees in assuring that mail reaches its destination on time and in good condition, the post office offered the following suggestions:

Pre-pay postage fully on all mail matter. See that the proper amount of postage is affixed to letters and packages.

Need Careful Packing

Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box or rural route whenever possible. The delivery zone number should be shown when applicable. Place sender's return address in upper left corner of address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary, in which case a copy of the address and return address should be placed inside the parcel for identification if the tag is lost.

Articles should be packed carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely, but do not seal them except when bearing a printed endorsement. "Contents, merchandise—Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary," together with name and address of sender, as sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed are subject to postage at the letter rate. The name and address of the sender may be handwritten or typewritten on the labels.

Packages containing perishable articles should be prominently endorsed with the word "perishable" by postmasters or other postal employees. Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation should not be accepted for mailing.

Limits On Size

Parcels should not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined. The limit of weight of fourth class or parcel post matter is 70 pounds for all zones. The same limit applies to first class matter and air parcel post.

Parcels may be marked "Do Not Open Until Christmas," this being permitted to encourage early mailing. Written greetings, such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With Best Wishes," and names, numbers or symbols, for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with third or fourth class (parcel post) mail. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage.

MARYLANDER IS IN JAIL AFTER FIGHTING COPS

Wilbur Francis Libby, 23, of Westminster, Md., was sentenced to 30 days in the Adams county jail this morning in default of a fine of $10 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge, after being discovered on the second floor of a York street home and giving state police of the Gettysburg sub-station, who arrested him, a "tussle" on Baltimore street in front of police headquarters, on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. John Codori, 405 York street, discovered Libby in her home about 3:30 o'clock and ran from the house to Phil's garage, 438 York street. Libby was chased down York street by Robert Miller, Gettysburg R. 4, who was one of a group at the garage when Mrs. Codori ran across the street from her home. Miller caught Libby and brought him back to the garage. Unable to reach borough police by telephone, state police were notified.

Attempts to Free

State Police Officer Howard Mackert was contacted by radio from the state police headquarters on Carlisle street to his patrol car, and directed to go to Phil's garage. He put Libby in his car and started for borough police headquarters. On Baltimore street, in front of the Murphy building, Mackert was again called by radio and told that Borough Police Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., was at the garage. Mackert was about to drive away from the curb to take Libby back to Phil's and turn him over to Culp, when Libby made an attempt to get out of the car.

The officer stopped, and tussled with Libby to prevent his escape. The two men were on the pavement, with Libby attempting to get away from Mackert and crawl under the state police car, when another state police car driven by Corporal Jack Bartlett arrived on the scene.

Jumping from his car, Bartlett aided Mackert in taking Libby up the stairs to borough police headquarters. A few minutes later Officer Culp appeared, a commitment was made out by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore, and the officers prepared to take their prisoner to jail. Just before putting Libby in the borough police car the latter made another attempted break, but was hustled into the car and taken to jail.

Smashes Window

Placed in a cell with an outside window, Libby, Monday night, broke one of the thick panes of glass, and had to be placed in a cell without a window. The hearing, conducted by Squire Basehore, was held at the jail this morning.

Libby admitted to authorities this morning that he had been arrested several times previously for disorderly conduct, once in Gettysburg several months ago. Other arrests were in Westminster, Lancaster and elsewhere, authorities said.

Libby told officers that he was in search of a room when he entered the Codori home.

The period of these actions extended from November 20, 1943 to July 26, 1944.

6 HUNTERS DIE ON OPENING DAY

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania hunters by the scores were returning to their homes and camps today with antlered trophies of the opening day of the 1948 deer season.

The State Game commission said preliminary reports from game wardens indicated an extra heavy first-day kill. However, no official figures on the bag were available.

The first snow of the season, coinciding with the opening of deer season, made tracking simple for the estimated 500,000 nimrods who took to the mountain woods.

However, the first day was marred with three fatal accidents. Three other hunters died of heart attacks and numerous other accidents were reported.

The dead are: Ellsworth Richardson, 23, Wellsboro, killed at Colton Point, near his home, when his gun discharged as he set it against his knee; Thomas J. Curry, 16, found fatally shot shortly after his hunting party had separated to flush a deer near Brackley, Susquehanna county.

Clarence E. RAIL EMBARGO IS OFF TODAY

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—The railroad freight embargo at eight east coast ports went off today as shipping struggled back toward normal after the crippling 18-day longshoremen's strike.

The Association of American railroads announced in Washington late yesterday it was lifting the embargo on freight intended for export or coastwise movement.

The ban was removed in the ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Hampton Roads, Va., Wilmington, Del., Port Newark, N. J., and Portland, Me.

Improved weather was expected to speed up waterfront recovery along the 700-mile stretch from Maine to Virginia, which began to come to life shortly after settlement of the AFL longshoremen's strike was announced Saturday. Snow and rain hampered activities at several ports yesterday.

Most of New York city's 25,000 longshoremen and checkers worked yesterday on the huge task of whittling down the cargoes of 250 vessels which had been tied up here. A big pile of foreign mail began to move. Many dockers here worked through the night.

EAGLES HOLD TOP POSITIONS IN STATISTICS

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (P)—It isn't hard to figure how the Philadelphia Eagles won the Eastern division championship of the National Football league. Just look at the individual NFL statistics released today.

No less than three members of the powerful Birds—Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson and Joe Muha—lead individual departments while End Pete Pihos is a close second in another.

The Van Buren story has a new angle. The Louisiana crumpler finally was stopped Sunday but not by human hands. He slipped while running and injured a knee. It was a tough break for Van Buren who looked like a cinch to break two NFL standards this season.

May Set 10-Year Records
Playing less than two quarters against Pittsburgh Sunday, Van Buren picked up 25 yards to increase his season total to 849, just 159 yards off his season record of 1,008.

Even more important to the big fellow is that he's only 184 yards shy of Clark Hinkle's all-time ground gaining mark of 3,860 yards established over a 10 year period. The Eagles still have two games to play and a healthy Van Buren can still ease both records.

Thompson held first place in the passing category with a percentage competition of 58.2. Tossin' Tommy has completed 110 passes of 189 attempts for 1,532 yards and 19 touchdowns. Only nine Thompson aeriels have been intercepted.

Muha regained his punting leadership after a week in second place. Under the NFL's inverse system of rating the Eagle fullback has booted 49 times for an average of 47.6 yards. George Gulyanics of the Chicago Bears trails with a 44.5 average on 48 kicks.

Pat Harder of the Cardinals still sets the scoring pace with 66 points on four touchdowns, 44 extra points and six field goals.

Sport Shorts

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (P)—Pullback Ray Dooney and Tackle Don Dettorre will captain the University of Pennsylvania football team next year.

Dooney and Dettorre were elected co-leaders of the 1949 Red and Blue eleven at the annual captains' dinner last night. They will succeed Charles (Chuck) Bednarik, Penn's all-America center and Maxwell award for 1948, and Carmen Falcone, quarterback.

Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 30 (P)—George DeSauteurs has signed to pilot the Sportsport Tigers of the Eastern Baseball league again in 1949. General Manager Robert J. Steinhilper announced last night. DeSauteurs, a former catcher for the Indians in his first season as Tiger Manager, led Williamsport to a fourth place tie with Hartford.

New York Nov. 30 (P)—For the fourth time in five years Army has been awarded the Lambert trophy, emblematic of eastern football supremacy. Writers and broadcasters gave army 112 votes comperad with six for Penn State and one for Cornell. Earl Blaik, army coach, will accept the trophy Thursday.

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (P)—Charley (Chuck) Bednarik, University of Pennsylvania's all-America center, is the recipient of two new honors. The Maxwell club yesterday chose the 23-year old Bethlehem, Pa., product as the outstanding football player of the year.

At the same time the Philadelphia Eagles, winner of the National Football League Eastern Title, announced they would like him to put his name on a contract when he graduates next spring.

Bednarik is the first lineman to win the Maxwell award, which will be presented at the club's annual dinner January 11.

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 30 (P)—Interstate holiday doubleheaders next year will be played in one city instead of one game at home and the other away.

The league decided on this schedule change last night. At the same time the circuit announced the 1949 season will open April 27 and close September 1 (Labor Day). A league spokesman said crowded conditions of highways, making bus travel hazardous, was the prime reason for changing the holiday schedules.

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (P)—A possible reduction in milk prices in Philadelphia and vicinity will be studied at hearings set for early December by the State Milk Control Commission.

Hearings are scheduled for December 9 at Philadelphia and December 10 at Norristown for the Philadelphia and Philadelphia suburban areas respectively.

The commission will hear testimony leading to a possible return to seasonal pricing of milk. This would bring a cut of one cent a quart retail on January 1 and another cent on April 1. Prices would go up again July 1 and October 1.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 30 (P)—Somebody is going to be handed a big job today—the task of pushing the University of Pittsburgh back up among the nation's football powers.

Only a few know now who has the inside track for that job, which carries with it the title of Pitt athletic director. However, many believe the official finger will be pointed at Capt. Tom Hamilton, genial athletic director at the U. S. Naval academy.

Tom isn't talking. Informed a few days ago he was the rumored first choice, he said merely: "I'm flattered to be considered."

If Hamilton was the man favored at yesterday's meeting of Pitt's athletic committee and undergraduate council, there's little question he'll have to work out with the Navy—his release from the gold braid.

Pitt had announced it would reveal its choice yesterday. However, Chancellor Rufus H. Fitzgerald said: "Final decisions by all parties on this matter have not yet come about."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 30 (P)—The hottest Rookie prospect on the world champion Cleveland Indians squad next spring may be third baseman Fred Marsh, who hit .305 for Oklahoma City last summer. . . . Fred is a protege of Cy Slapnicka, who hung the same "Can't miss" tag on him that he once hung on Bob Feller. . . . Of course, the Indians have a fair country third baseman in Ken Wetner, but Marsh's record may be the reason why Ken recently remarked: "I've got a sneaking suspicion that a guy named Keltner might go some place in a big deal before too long a time." . . . Branch Rickey, who had some unpleasant kickbacks from last year's trades, doesn't plan to do any business at the winter meetings unless it is selling off some surplus farm products. . . . He'll have to sell some or plough them under. . . . Papa Bear George Halas denies that Quarterback Bobby Layne is up for grabs. Wonder if George could think Sid Luckman is wearing out after only 10 seasons?

QUOTE, UNQUOTE
An unidentified newsmen at the Fordham-NYU game when the crowd cheered the Army-Navy tie: "They're all for the underdog—especially when they took Navy and twenty and a half points."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Detroit's effort to land the 1952 or 1956 Olympic games seems to have run afoul of the mayor's refusal to approve a $2,000,000 contribution to build a stadium. . . . Outfielder John Simmons, drafted by Washington out of the Dodgers chain, was drafted by Montreal a year ago from the Yankees' Norfolk, Va., farm. And he played at Yale in 1943 under Red Rolfe, now Tiger manager, after starting at NYU. . . . Racing folks will be keeping a sharp eye on the Mutuel handle during the Florida season, which opens tomorrow. One story is that Florida will be glad to settle for a 10 per cent drop. . . . Football's tough luck guy for the season probably was Auburn's Soph halfback, Jim Ryckley, who broke the same bone in the same foot for the fourth straight time.

MICHIGAN GETS TOP RATING IN GRIDIRON POLL

New York, Nov. 30 (P)—Mighty Michigan is college football's "team of the year."

As a climax to a series of dazzling successes, the Wolverines held the No. 1 place today in the Associated Press' final poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

They beat out their old rival for national honors—Notre Dame—in balloting that gave them 3,448 points to 3,325 for the Irish.

In the final regular season poll of 1947 it was Notre Dame on top with Michigan a close second.

This time, however, the unbeaten and untied Wolverines received 192 first place votes of the 387 casting ballots while the Irish drew only 97.

Notre Dame will try for its 22nd straight victory and its 28th game without a defeat Saturday against Southern California at Los Angeles.

Army Is Sixth
North Carolina, with only a tie against its record, moved up to third position with 2,281 votes in the final standings as Army, surprisingly tied 21-21 by Navy, fell from third to sixth place with 1,799 ballots.

California held fourth with an even 2,000 and was followed in order by Oklahoma, 1,906, Army, Northwestern, 1,421, Georgia, 879, Oregon, 769 and Southern Methodist, 683.

Seven of the first ten will see action in post-season bowl games.

North Carolina and Oklahoma clash in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. California and Northwestern are Rose Bowl foes at Pasadena. Oregon and Southern Methodist meet in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Georgia opposes Texas, which didn't land in the first twenty, in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Only Three Bowl Tickets Unfilled
New York, Nov. 30 (P)—Of the 30-odd post season bowl games, only three are still shopping around for talent today.

They are the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Calif.; the Salad Bowl at Phoenix, Ariz. and Cigar at Tampa, Fla., each looking for one other team to fill the bill.

Sponsors of the Harbor Bowl announced they had invited Navy to take on Nevada but Navy officials declined comment on the bid. Villanova, meanwhile, is said to be considering an invitation to play in the event.

The Cigar Bowl has chosen unbeaten Missouri Valley college for one half of its fare and has narrowed the other half down to three teams—Bowling Green (Ohio), St. Thomas (Minn.) and Wofford (S. C.). The Salad Bowl, with Drake University already chosen, is awaiting a decision by Arizona players to take the opposing role.

Villanova Accepts Harbor Bowl Bid
Villanova, Pa., Nov. 30 (P)—Villanova college football team today accepted an invitation to meet Nevada university in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Calif., New Year's Day. The Villanova squad voted unanimously to accept the bid and the college's board of trustees approved the action.

Villanova won seven, lost two—to Army and Boston college—and tied Kentucky in its best season under Coach Jordan Oliver. The 1948 Wildcat eleven gained more than 3,000 yards—most in the school's football history—and scored 255 points, another Villanova record.

It will be Villanova's third bowl appearance. In 1938 the Wildcats played a 7 to 7 tie against Auburn in the Bacardi Bowl at Havana. Last year Villanova lost a 24 to 14 decision to Kentucky in the Great Lakes Bowl at Cleveland.

Oliver said the team would start practice December 13 and drills would continue until Christmas when the boys would be dismissed for a brief holiday. The team leaves for California December 26.

Argument Leads To Murder Charge
Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (P)—An argument over a child's dime bank resulted in a Harrisburg father being held today in the Dauphin county jail on a charge of murder.

State Police Sgt. Joseph Pochyba said Sylvester Smith, 25, was arraigned last night before Alderman Joseph K. Armstrong on a charge of murdering Jacob Ulrich, 32, also of Harrisburg. Ulrich died last night in the Harrisburg hospital after he was found Sunday night with a bullet in his chest in a local park.

Pochyba said Smith told him the shooting was preceded by an argument between the two men in which Smith accused Ulrich, a part-time roomer at Smith's house, of stealing $54.50 in dimes from a toy bank.

Mount Cagers Will Play Shippensburg

The basketball season at Shippensburg State Teachers' college will open on Saturday, when Coach Harold Kramer's Red Raider quintet will battle the strong Mount Saint Mary's five on the Shippensburg court. Game time is 8 p. m.

Coach Kramer probably will start Captain Jack McClellan and Herman Gordon at forwards, Herbert "Jeb" Stewart or Bob Chubb at center, and "Whitey" Korkush, Sam Roksandic, or Gordon at guards.

INVITE PUBLIC TO MAT CLINIC

A wrestling clinic, designed primarily to enlighten the public on general knowledge of intercollegiate wrestling, will be held at Gettysburg college this Saturday.

John Engel, one of the country's foremost wrestling authorities, will conduct the clinic and will hold sessions at 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. in the college gymnasium.

No special invitations have been issued and the public is invited and urged to attend. School athletes and their coaches are especially urged to attend.

Engel formerly wrestled as a member of the Lehigh university varsity squad. He is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on leg wrestling.

During the past year Engel conducted the Olympic tryouts as well as the National Intercollegiate and Middle Atlantic wrestling tournaments. He also figured prominently in installing the Navy wrestling program of instructing during the war.

Heavy Fog Over West Europe
London, Nov. 30 (P)—The most persistent fog in a decade fouled up western Europe again today.

The murky cut visibility to a few yards, grounded planes, slowed trains and snarled automobiles traffic for the fourth successive day.

The decision to abandon the bastion of east central China 211 miles northwest of Nanking was taken in a desperate attempt to salvage forces for the defense of the capital.

Suchow had stood firm under nearly a month of Communist assault. But it was outflanked by a sweeping Red drive to the south which cut across Suchow's lines of communications.

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Nanking, China, Nov. 30 (P)—Scant reports from central China battlefronts today indicated Chinese Communist forces are sweeping southward, isolating or by-passing large National troop concentrations.

One report said Kuechen, a railway town 150 miles northwest of Nanking, fell to Red troops as they widened a net around 140,000 trapped Nationalist troops.

The encircled forces were the government's Twelfth Army Group, under Gen. Huang Wei. They were being bombarded by Communist appeals to surrender.

(Only bright news from Chiang Kai-shek's government came from the northern front. An official dispatch said Chiang's armies recaptured Paotow, Inner Mongolian rail terminus 320 miles west of Peiping.)

Evacuations Go On
Meanwhile two ominous signs appeared in Nanking. (1) There was a total absence of war news in the afternoon papers. (2) The government's military spokesmen remained away from his office. In the past both of these have indicated reverses of considerable importance to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies.

Nervousness was reflected in both diplomatic and government circles in this capital. Various diplomatic missions joined the American embassy in evacuating embassy and consular staff dependents to safer areas. The U. S. embassy announced navy planes Thursday would start flying 100 American dependents from Nanking and Shanghai to Manila. Americans in central China have already been warned to "move to areas of greater safety."

Several other foreign embassies and legations have already evacuated their women and children. Others were preparing to do so as quickly as facilities became available.

Official Fleeing
The flight of National government officials from China reached such proportions that the control yuan was reported to have adopted a resolution that passports be given only to those under "special orders."

The Nanking Evening News said the control yuan would investigate the large number of legislative and control yuan members who have asked for passports.

The same tendency to flee was reported from Suchow, key to government defenses in central China. Reliable reports said many able-bodied men were trying to crowd into planes flying out to the coast.

Suchow is about 65 miles north of the spot where the government's Twelfth Army Group has been trapped.

CHAMP STALLION
Chicago, Nov. 30 (P)—A four-year-old Percheron stallion, "Top Sergeant," owned by Brandtjen farms, Farmington, Minn., today was judged grand champion of the breed at the International Livestock exposition. The reserve grand champion award was bestowed on Rem Degas, seven-year-old dapple gray who was the 1947 breed grand champion. It was shown by Dr. Robert C. Shavely, Hagerstown, Md.

SCANT REPORTS TELL OF GAINS BY CHINA REDS

Nanking, Nov. 30 (P)—The powerful Suchow garrison has begun quitting the city to go to the relief of 140,000 comrades trapped by the Communists to the south, usually reliable sources said today.

CHURCHILL IS 74 YEARS OLD
London, Nov. 30 (P)—Winston Churchill, symbol to millions of Britain's war spirit, is 74 today.

The conservative former prime minister received a flood of congratulatory messages and gifts, including books, flowers, a huge cake from a London baking firm, and plenty of cigars.

A fixture of his birthday, year in and year out, is a family party with a handful of old cronies at his London home in Byway-on-Fringe, Hyde Park.

It seemed likely that he would work pretty much as usual on a pile of parliamentary business, always on the desk of the leader of the opposition.

Emmitsburg LIONS STAGE CHARTER NIGHT

The Emmitsburg Lions club celebrated its nineteenth annual charter night recently in the Lutheran parish house. Approximately 100 members and guests attended. A turkey dinner was served. One of the main features of the evening was a demonstration by the magician, Allen Pennell, Gettysburg college student. The annual Ladies' night was called to order by President Herbert Roger. Singing of "America" followed and the pledge to the flag was given.

Rev. Philip Bower gave the invocation. Another feature was a trio of Spanish girls from St. Joseph's college who sang several songs in their native language. The toastmaster, Dr. D. L. Beegle, introduced the guest speaker, C. O. Fishpaw, district governor of the Lions.

Musical selections were played by Prof. W. Sterbinsky. Dancing under the direction of Miss Mildred Trevett was enjoyed after the dinner and meeting was concluded.

A birthday party was held at the Swiss chalet recently in honor of Miss Bernice Muench who celebrated her seventh birthday. The little celebrant received many gifts. Refreshments were served to Linda and Susan Bowers, Theresa, Vincent, David, Frankie, Genevieve Wivell, Michael and Patricia Roddy, Rebecca and Jimmy Kreitz, Jerry Rightnour, Tommy Zurgable, Nancy and David Lingg, Artie and Gay Elder, Philip Wetzel, Alice and Agnes Scott, Tommy Seltzer, Patricia Gibney and Nancy Muench.

Miss Emily Adelsberger of Washington, D. C., visited her parents over the holidays.

Twenty farmers from the Emmitsburg trading area met Tuesday at the Lutheran Parish House and voted unanimously to establish a local co-operative service on Southern States Cooperative supplies.

Lawrence B. Baldwin of Catonsville, district manager of Southern States, showed a series of slide pictures depicting the growth and services of the regional co-operative. The following farmers were elected to serve on a temporary advisory board: William H. Wivell, chairman, Morris A. Zentz, Elmer L. Fuss, Floyd Wood, Raymond H. Keepers and Raymond E. Baumgardner. They will meet in the near future to consider all applicants for the local franchise.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Frailey entertained at their home on Thanksgiving the following: J. E. Musselman and Miss Bessie Hoke, Gettysburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Shipley and children of Baltimore, Md.

Word has been received that Lawrence J. Elder, son of Mrs. John D. Elder, who was formerly connected with the Emmitsburg Chronicle for a period of years has been appointed by the Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania, as editor of a company-sponsored magazine.

He is a brother of Charles Arthur Elder, editor of the present Emmitsburg Chronicle. For the past ten years he has been associated with the Telephone company in Pitts-

Today's Talk

THAT EXTRA

I have never known anyone who was willing and eager to do something extra, something for which he wasn't paid, who didn't grow, advance and gloriously succeed.

Everyone wants that type of a person around, as an associate in business, and as a friend. You know that there is dependability there—something that you can tie to, that extra that some persons have over others, and which sets them apart.

I knew the late E. M. Statler, who established the Statler hotel group—played golf with him, was entertained on his boat and sat for hours with him as he talked advertising, which was a hobby with him. He started in a most modest manner, establishing his first hotel in Buffalo, New York. There were already thousands of hotels in the United States, but Statler had ideas that other hotel men had neglected. He believed that the customer was always right, so bowed to him when a difference arose. Then he gave little extras like a daily newspaper, a free library, and discouraged tipping in his wash rooms. Is it any wonder that his hotels have prospered, even after his death?

It is that little extra courtesy and interest that many a clerk gives that ties a customer to him or her. It is natural for people to go out of their way to deal at a store where there is a pleasant atmosphere, and where they are made to feel that they are welcomed.

Good will is—that extra, and it has been so publicized that it has become almost priceless. It is impossible to estimate its asset value. And what an asset to create and build upon! Yet, how rare a thing it is—and getting rarer every day, unfortunately. Too many strive to get from someone, of from somewhere, that extra, instead of giving it as an offering.

That extra accomplishment of being able to write helpfully, to paint, to converse in one or more languages, to have traveled much, read much, or to have met and known a variety of people—any of these is what makes a personality outstanding and attractive.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Suspicion."

GRATE FIRE

The northwest wind in the evening came
And rattled each door and each window frame.
Between the houses it raced and roared,
As if it would loosen each brick and board.

As a tyrant who rules by the threat of might
And tortures whoever disputes his right,
The north wind thundered: "The foe I hate
Is a blazing fire in an open grate!"

"I'm king of the winds, and whenever I blow
The bliss of comfort no man should know."
But the birch logs laughed, as we sat about,
Saying: "Have no fear; we will keep him out."

GALA TRADITION MARKS OPENING OF "MET" OPERA

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—The crowd turned out at the 66-year-old Metropolitan Opera house last night to hear opera and, perhaps, to observe a gala tradition. They heard—and they saw.

A couple of hundred others attended the opening of the New York opera season, too. They came to be seen—and it scarcely seemed worth all the effort.

The new season marked an important milestone in music, too, for television carried the annual pageant to a living room and bar-and-grill audience estimated at 2,000,000—most of whom had never glimpsed the color-filled stage from a house seat.

Careful Choice

It was a highly jeweled and excited audience which flocked to see Verdi's "Otello," a somber tale of murder and suicide.

Some veteran opera-goers said the choice of the heavier opera was deliberate—to discourage between-the-acts bar shenanigans which had stolen headlines in past years. Earlier Director Edward Johnson had appealed to the press to ignore publicity-seeking exhibitions.

Whatever the reason, it was an opening almost totally without incident, other than the arrival of celebrities in the glare of television floodlights and the flash of photographers' bulbs.

First night regulars—society people, stage and opera personalities—started to arrive shortly before 8 p. m. (EST). But the climax was reached for the bystanders when Miss Margaret Truman made her appearance 10 or 15 minutes after the opera had started.

Fantastic Jewelry

She was smiling and pretty in a full, draped dress of white silk, whose modest décolleté was broken by an oversize scarf—almost a stole—of white fox. Her hostess was Miss Jane Watson, young daughter of Thomas J. Watson, wealthy New York industrialist.

The late arrival of the dowager Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt really was the signal, however, that another season of opera had started. And, as usual, Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh arrived wearing a fantastic amount of jewelry, from emerald and diamond tiara to an armload of bracelets and four fingers full of enormous single-stoned rings.

Mrs. Betty Henderson, elderly stormy petrel who last year enlivened bar proceedings by being photographed with her leg on a table, was greeted wildly. She had a fantastic headpiece which included Mme. Pompadour curls, but conducted herself with considerable decorum during her three-act occupancy of a table in the bar.

FIND INDUSTRIAL OUTLOOK GOOD

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Government economists found good omens for the future today in surveys along the nation's industrial front.

These reports included:
1. A new peacetime production record in October—almost double the pre-war average.

2. Fewer strikes the first 10 months of 1948 than in the two preceding years.

3. An 11 per cent drop in prices of farm products since January's postwar peak.

Although there were some dark spots on the industrial picture the total effect appeared cheering.

In sizing up the production records, the Federal Reserve board said last night that last month's output boosted its index three points to a level 95 per cent above the 1935-39 average. The previous high was February's 94 per cent, but the gauge fell to 87 per cent in April and July.

Production of manufactured goods alone, the board said, better than doubled the pre-war mark, with durable items turned out at a rate 13 per cent above the pre-war scale and non-durable goods produced at a 79 per cent clip.

To Try O'Malley On Two Charges

Philadelphia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Former Chief Magistrate John J. O'Malley will be tried on only two indictments when he comes up for a second trial on charges of malfeasance in office.

This was disclosed over the week-end by Deputy Attorney General Laurence H. Eldredge, who prosecuted the 54-year-old former prize fighter in a three-week trial that ended with discharge of the jurors after they failed to reach a verdict.

Eldredge, explaining that O'Malley was brought to trial on seven indictments including 641 counts, said the jurors found the charges "were too many for them to understand."

"I have decided," he added, "to limit the next trial to two bills of indictment and to hold the other five bills for a third trial at a later date." Eldredge said the state expects to be able to bring O'Malley to trial again in January.

Elmer Morrow, Motor Tank Salesman, fills his gasoline truck at the Allentown plant.

What should a man work For?...

Put that question to Elmer Morrow, here, and he'll answer about like this:

"Well, you could say a man works for a living, but there's more to it than just that. A man has his self-respect to keep. He wants to work at a job he likes. He wants to do something useful. He wants fair pay and steady hours—with some time to himself and his family. He wants a chance to get ahead and he wants to save some money. And he wants some security in case of accident or sickness. Then, when his working years are done, he wants to know he can retire on an annuity."

Today, in Esso Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania and affiliated companies, 29,000 men and women have jobs which offer exactly these things. They have such jobs because of a company policy that was set up over 30 years ago—and developed side-by-side with our workers ever since. It is a policy based on the belief that the heart of a business is its people—that the best possible jobs attract the best possible workers.

Workers in this company today have everything outlined in the statement above—including vacations with pay, sickness benefits, cash savings in a Thrift Plan, and the opportunity to retire with income for life.

But this policy hasn't grown from "generosity" alone. It's a practical, common-sense business policy, and a good one.

Our 29,000 workers, for instance, have now been with us on the average for almost 14 years—8,500 of them over 20 years.

Right now—with the demand for oil products far higher than ever before, it means a lot—to us and to you—to have a staff of experienced, steady, loyal workers like these pushing our facilities to the limit to get you the oil products you want—good products at fair prices!

HILL TO DEMAND UNIFICATION OF ARMED FORCES

By DON WHITEHEAD
Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Senator Hill (D-Ala.) warned the nation's military chiefs today he intends to "raise Cain until there is real unification of the armed forces."

As a member of the Senate Armed Services committee, Hill said, he will demand in the next Congress that the Army, Navy and Air Force put aside their "petty fighting" for the country's good.

In an interview before leaving for Alabama, the Senator said: "The time has come for Secretary of Defense Forrestal to knock some heads together, or if need be, to knock some heads off, to carry out the intentions of the law passed by Congress to give us unification in fact and not in fancy."

Navy-Air Force Quarrel
Hill was a member of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee which began studying unification legislation in 1944. He said "The Navy raised such strong objections" that the bill was not approved until last year. "But the spirit and the intent of the act have not been carried out," Hill said.

The veteran Alabama Senator did not single out any specific instances, but the Air Force and Navy have been quarreling openly over their sky assignments.

Air Force advocates claim that despite service agreements on wartime tasks the Navy is trying to cut into the Air Force's long range bombing job with its carrier based planes.

Don't Have "Team"
Hill said the country now is "confronted by two dangerous situations" because the armed services have not settled their disputes. The "first danger," he said, is that "we do not have a team of armed forces which Congress felt was necessary for defense. The three separate services are fighting one another."

"The second danger is those fellows are asking so much money without unification that it is a threat to our economy."

Hill's threat is "raise Cain" about the way unification has been handled ran counter to the stand of Senator Tydings (D-Md.) who is slated to become chairman of the Armed Services committee. Tydings told a reporter last Friday that he was opposed to a Congressional investigation. The rough edges are being "rounded off," he said. But he added that if Congress calls for an investigation his committee will make one.

Stinson operations will be moved to Lock Haven, Piper said, as soon as equipment, tools and parts can be transferred.

MADAME CHIANG VISIT BRINGS NO ENTHUSIASM

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Madame Chiang Kai-shek's unofficial mission to the United States—presumably to make an urgent plea for further American aid to her hard-hit country—has evoked little enthusiasm in Washington.
The brilliant First Lady of China naturally is being received with every courtesy due her high position. She is being brought here in American planes, and the flight from San Francisco to Washington is being made in President Truman's former private machine, the Sacred Cow. Moreover, she is to be the house guest of Secretary of State and Mrs. Marshall at their home at Leesburg, Va., near the capital.

High-Pressure Tactics
However, Madame Chiang's sensational trip strikes American diplomatic circles as savoring a bit too much of high-pressure tactics, especially since it follows so closely on the Generalissimo's direct appeal to President Truman for more help—and quick. The whole problem is, of course, a matter of earnest discussion between Mr. Truman and General Marshall.

Well, it would have been more discreet if Nanking had held its hand until the President and the Secretary of State had a chance to thresh the matter out. Still, I think that in fairness we must recognize Madame Chiang's trip is impelled by a situation which is so chaotic that China's life must seem to its harassed government to be at stake.

As a matter of fact, the Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek is in danger of going down for the third time. Things look grim for the Nationalists in the great battle with the Chinese Communists in the Szechow sector, which is the gateway to the national capital of Nanking—the gateway to all central China, for that matter.

Getting Russian Aid
On November 20 when the Chinese government announced a sweeping victory over the Red rebels in the Szechow area, this column warned readers to await developments before jumping to conclusions. It looked to me as though the attacking Communists had merely paused for a breather and reorganization after some 10 days of fierce attack, and that they would resume their offensive in due course.
The offensive has been resumed and some half million Red troops are said to be on the move towards Nanking. A quarter million government troops in the Szechow area are reported to have been ordered to withdraw southward for defense of the capital and the routes into central China, but thus far the withdrawal hasn't been effected.
In any event, as things now stand the 250,000 Nationalist defenders are faced with attack by twice their number. And the Reds are receiving support from the Russians via Manchuria and Mongolia.

DEMOCRATS TO PLAN STRATEGY

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—A resurgent Democratic minority in the state legislature will meet here Thursday, December 9, to pick its leaders and plan its strategy for the 1949 session.
Democratic State Chairman Philip Mathews called a joint caucus of the 15 Democratic senators and 91 House members. It will be held a day after the Republican House members hold their organization meeting.

Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), re-elected for a new four-year term earlier this month, is expected again to get the nod of his Senate colleagues as floor leader. In the House, Rep. H. G. Andrews (D-Cambria) also was in line for re-election as minority leader in the lower branch.

The Democrats picked up 53 new seats in the state House in the November elections, sharply reducing the overwhelming GOP majority of 1947. Party leaders already have served notice they will press hard for enactment of the program outlined in state Democratic platform.

Included are proposals for liberalization of unemployment, Workmen's and Occupational Compensation laws, increased salaries for teachers, opposition to a state sales tax and re-establishment of a general state authority, a building agency, to finance continuation of the state's mental hospital and clean streams program.

Chapter 26

Wayne drew up stiffly at the sound of the mocking voice. Rosalie kissed him once more before turning to face Rex, who was standing in the doorway swinging a key on a gold chain happily. He was dressed impeccably as always and sported a rose in his lapel. His sleek black hair and polished shoes gleamed with equal brilliance. He was evidently quite unperturbed by what he had seen.

Rosalie held her head high. "I don't remember letting you in, Rex." He chuckled. "You didn't. The key did."

"I certainly never gave you a key to my apartment."

"Naturally not, darling. I would never have dreamed of suggesting such a thing. But naturally I need one—or felt I would some day."

Wayne swept him with a glance before speaking. "What do you want me to do, Rosalie?"

She smiled. "Thank you. Just pick up the tickets at Grand Central. Then you might use your influence to get us from Chicago to San Francisco. Be back for lunch about twelve-thirty. We want to allow time for our little visit before catching the Century."

Wayne nodded and walked quietly out of the apartment.

"What's the big idea, darling?"

She looked at him coolly. "I think that is my question. How dare you force your way in on me like this?"

"Didn't you expect me? I'm sure you did. When you dismissed Lucy over the phone you knew she'd get in touch with me at once, even if I was burned out of my hotel. That was a narrow escape."

"I am very glad you were rescued. Otherwise I might have gone on being a fool. Some things you only believe when you see them for yourself."

"You sound so mysterious. Just what did you see, darling?"

"I saw Joe carry you and Daisy Winters down the ladder."

He waved his hands gaily. "Since you've told me what you saw, why should I bother denying the obvious or trying to explain the unexplainable? We decided before that we all have our weaknesses. I mine and even yours. After all, you did seem rather entangled with Wayne Kahler just now. Were you trying to get a little financial backing, perhaps? It always helps in the theater."

She tapped her foot. "I am going to marry Wayne."

He raised his brows. "Really? Did his father's letter influence you so much? I found it here when I dropped in yesterday."

"I don't think you understand, Rex. I am giving up the foolish notion of a career. It was all nonsense. I'm leaving on the Century with Wayne this afternoon. I shall marry him in California as soon as we get there. I have to pack now. My trunks are waiting and must be ready when Wayne comes back in two hours."

"Good. I'll help you pack. You'd be surprised how handy I can be. I was going to have you fly out to the Coast, but going out with Wayne will be just as well. I can have a couple of days more and get there by plane as soon as you. Thank heaven for wings. I don't expect to have any other kind."

She held out her hand. "This is goodbye, Rex."

He took her hand lightly. "I'll come to see you off on the train. We'll want some pictures. Must do everything right, you know."

She pulled her hand away angrily. "Can't you be serious even for one minute?"

"Yes, I can. And make you very happy, too."

"You make me happy. Not a chance."

"Rosalie, darling, we have won. The word came yesterday. You can take your screen test either here or in Hollywood, but all things considered it might be better out there, since I know the decision in advance."

"It—it can't be true."

He chuckled. "Get dressed, come to the office, and you'll see it in black and white on my desk. Don't you realize I've been working for us? Now we got the bull by the tail. Don't you see a chance like this doesn't happen twice?"

"Yes, I see."

The little words came in a faint whisper. She had drawn herself up and was staring out of the window. Rex gave her a quick hug.

"I know how you feel. It seems impossible but it's true. Rosalie belongs to the world from now on. Go on out with Wayne. String him along. See Joe before you go, and his mother. I'll have a man there to take pictures."

"Mrs. Monahan almost died. That is why I came back."

"Well, just the right angle, darling. You know your publicity angle. We'll sit on top of the world together. Don't stare at me. Call up Miss Garden and have her verify what I'm telling you."

"I don't need to. I—I know it's true."

"Certainly it is. And don't I get a kiss for it?"

She hesitated. "Suppose—suppose I fail?"

He chuckled. "If you do, you can take Wayne. Or Joe. But you won't fail. The cameras are waiting."

Chapter 27

"And here it is in another paper. Look at this, me proud duchess, and you'll feel like jumpin' out o' bed altogether."

Pat held it out to her, laughing and excited. Mrs. Monahan gave a quick glance and thrust it away impatiently.

"Sure I don't need any newspaper to show me a picture o' my own son. Suppose he did carry two people down a ladder at once. What's in that, when he's strong as an ox and them with not enough clothes on so they'd weigh anything? It's his job to save people, ain't it? It's what the city pays him to do."

Pat grinned at her. "I still say he'll be gettin' medals for it, mark my work."

"I'd mark your word for more, Pat Bulger. If you'd do somethin' about gettin' Rosalie here to see me. Last night was nothin' at all. She wasn't here with me no time at all when she had to go gallivantin' off to that fire. What is it people sees in fires, anyway?"

Pat pulled a long face. "In this case our Rosalie saw plenty. The man Joe carried down and saved is her fiancé, that theatrical agent, and the hussy with him—well, ya might say she was just with him."

"You talk too much, Pat Bulger. I might say—"

Bella came bursting in through the front room, waving a paper. "Here's more about the fire, Mrs. Monahan. It says here that Joe—"

"I don't want to hear about it. She put her fat hands over her ears."

"I'm supposed to have peace and quiet and here is everybody rushin' in and out like I was dead and them having the time o' their lives at the wake."

Bella gasped and drew herself up. "I'm very sorry if I've annoyed you."

"Faith and you ought to be. All the time clack, clack, clack. Joe this, Joe that, Joe the other thing. Do you think you can tell me anything about my own boy? Why don't you let him alone for five minutes? Give him a chance to breathe. Let him know his soul's his own. Go away and give him a chance to think. Go back to work."

Pat came between them. "Go home, child. You're making things worse."

He meant it kindly, since he liked her, but Bella didn't receive his words in that spirit. She flung round at him, her eyes blazing.

"It's all your fault. You sent for her. You couldn't let her stay where she was and rot there. You can't deny it. Joe didn't want her. You sent the telegram and signed his name to it. It—it's forgery. You should be punished. God will punish you. Wait and see."

It was too much for the contrite Pat. He caught her by the arms and rushed her out of the house just as Lottie was coming in. But Lottie, holding little Tuffy by the hand, was no ally for the evicted Bella. Lottie at bottom didn't like her. She was angry now.

"Was that you roaring at Mother and upsetting her? Don't talk to me. And don't come back here any more."

Bella fled, utterly routed. Pat gave Lottie a quick kiss of approval, half for her speech and half for bringing Tuffy, who had dashed into the bedroom and was now standing in awe in front of his grandmother, who seemed so different lying in bed, her face glowing at the sight of him.

Pat came in and caught the boy up in his arms. "How big you are, I can hardly lift you any more. You weigh a ton."

Tuffy squealed with excitement. "Could you carry me like Joe carried the lady?"

Pat roared with laughter and, swinging the boy to his back, danced out of the room with him in search of cake in the kitchen.

"I'm not sure all this excitement is good for you. And I heard that Bella yelling her head off."

"Ah, we'll forget about her and be glad she's gone for a day at least."

"Gone?" Lottie snorted. "She's probably up the street waiting to waylay Joe right now. But, Mother, did you—"

"It's still Mom, Lottie."

The girl laughed and kissed her. "Then you've forgiven me for being dumb as Bella and trying to send Rosalie away?"

"I'll forgive you twice over if you'll find her and bring her here."

"She said she would come, Mom, so I'm sure she will."

"Indeed. And you're on her side now? Since when?"

"It isn't a case of sides. I called up her apartment and was told she is coming here this afternoon. I want to fix you up. And I don't know whether to tell Pat for fear he might hide. They are going to take pictures."

"Pictures. Good Lord, who would want a picture of me?"

"You taught Rosalie to dance, didn't you? And Joe will be here because he rescued Mr. Hall last night. Mr. Hall told me as soon as I told him who I was. He was very nice over the phone. A real gentleman."

"And who is Mr. Hall, may I ask?"

"He's Rosalie's agent. He's also going to marry her. I showed you that piece in the paper some time ago."

"I don't put no stock in no papers. Engaged to Rosalie indeed. I won't have it. It—it ain't decent."

The fat woman made a vast effort and sat up.

"Mother! You must lie down. You—"

The fat woman thrust her away. "I won't lie down. And I won't be called Mother in that Park Avenue voice of yours. I won't let our Rosalie marry a man that has naked women in his room and then sets fire to hotels. It ain't decent. I'll put a stop to it."

"Mother. Lie down, Pat! Come here instantly."

Chapter 28

Pat came running in answer to her call. He blinked at sight of the vast patient sitting up. She grinned at him.

"Pile pillows behind me, Pat. I'm sitting up. I'm too weak in the legs to stand, but there's nothin' wrong with my sitting apparatus."

Mrs. Monahan, safely braced with pillows, beamed at having won her first step.

Lottie groaned. "You shouldn't be sitting up. The doctor said so."

"Since when do doctors know anything? He just wants to keep me sick so he can wheedle more money out o' me. And that he does. Pat, take the worried look off your face. And put on a clean shirt. They're comin' to take pictures of us, what for I don't know except that I do know I won't have me picture made lying on me back like a sick cow. Now don't start saying no because it has to be. It's for Rosalie. Lottie, do you happen to know what good our mugs can possibly do Rosalie?"

"Rosalie is going to Hollywood."

The fat woman blinked. "And what will she do way out there?"

Lottie gasped at such abysmal ignorance. "Make pictures, of course. She's going to be in pictures. We'll be able to see her in pictures."

Pat made a contemptuous gesture. "I don't believe it. She wouldn't stoop to nothin' like that. Not our Rosalie."

"Stoop!" Lottie felt strangled. "Everyone would give a right arm to be in just one picture for one minute. It—it's fame."

"I wouldn't give nothing," cried

"No, I," piped up Tuffy, anxious to get close to Pat.

Pat caught him up again and rode him down the hall out of the sphere of such feminine nonsense. Joe came in quietly. He looked very tall and straight in his uniform. Lottie was startled at the sight of him, then caught his hand eagerly.

"Did you hear, Joe? Rosalie is going to Hollywood. She's going to be in pictures."

His mother clapped her fat hands. "We won't give her up. We'll keep her here with us. We won't let her go to Hollywood. She'll be lonesome out there. She won't know anybody."

"I'd give half my life to be a star in Hollywood for one day," said Lottie.

She turned away lest she say more. It was all so ridiculous. She started to look out the window and heave a sigh but there was no chance. A taxi had just stopped in front of the door and Rosalie was being handed out by a tall, handsome man. Another car rolled up and several men with cameras poured out of it. Lottie stood fascinated but shouted over her shoulder:

"Rosalie's here. And the camera men."

Joe came and stood by her side watching. A crowd was collecting. Rosalie posed, smiling, clinging to Wayne's arm. Then suddenly the house was full of them. Rosalie came up to Joe and kissed him lightly. A bulb flashed. Rosalie's laugh ripped out.

"Isn't it awful of us to descend on you like this with cameras?"

Joe smiled faintly. "They don't want any pictures of me now."

"Sure we do," cried a camera man. "Pick her up in your arms and carry her like you did that night the rowdies egged her."

Rosalie held out her arms. "You must do it, Joe. I must have publicity, it seems. Don't say anything yet, Wayne. I'll have three days on the train to explain."

Joe swept her up in his arms and stood facing the clicking cameras. It was a handsome shot, the kind the men knew their papers liked. They liked this Rosalie and this handsome young Smoky Joe who was making a name for himself.

In the bedroom Mrs. Monahan sat with glowing face and was snapped alone, with Joe, with Pat, with Rosalie. She was so excited she could hardly talk. Fame had pushed into her house.

Everyone began to crowd out of the flat, the newspaperman in the best of humor. Rosalie was finally able to lead Wayne up to Pat and Mrs. Monahan. She introduced him gaily.

"Remember the grand party you gave me when I was going out to marry Wayne. Well, here he is."

The fat woman gave her hand with dignity. "You love her, don't you?"

"I do."

"Will you promise you'll do your best not to let her marry that rapscallion who had a naked woman in his room?"

Lottie gasped. "Mother! Such language!"

"Mr. Kahler knows what I mean."

"Indeed I do, Mrs. Monahan. I'm going to try my best to marry her myself. Will that be better?"

"I think it would. But you'll forgive me for hopin' still that it's my Joe she should marry and be happy with."

Joe seemed to appear from nowhere. He was grave, quiet.

"Please don't say any more, Mom. None of us have any right to point any fingers at Mr. Hall. He gave Rosie her chance. He made her a success. He's sending her to Hollywood with Wayne now because he trusts her. He deserves something, too." He turned and took her hand.

"Goodbye, Rosie. I wish you grand success both in pictures and as the wife of the man who turned you into a star."

Her voice was very quiet. "I'm not a star yet. Suppose I fail?"

"You won't fail. You'll climb as high as you want to climb."

He turned and vanished as silently as he had appeared. Wayne drew a deep breath. "Ready to go, Rosalie? Trains don't wait."

She patted his cheek. "Wait in the taxi. I'll be out in a minute."

MAYOR FIGHTS GAS DIVERSION

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Pittsburgh's mayor has personally intervened in a Federal Power Commission case in an effort to block a proposed diversion of natural gas from companies serving his city.
Mayor David L. Lawrence, who appeared before the commission yesterday, said: "We do not believe it is fair to divert natural gas from your people who are accustomed to its use and dependent upon it, to other communities who have been accustomed to use other fuel and have had no such dependence on natural gas."

The mayor spoke on behalf of the city as an intervenor in Texas Eastern Gas Transmission Corporation's application for permission to extend lines from Lebanon, O., to Windridge, Pa. These lines would be used to distribute gas to be obtained from the Texas Gas Transmission Corp.

Mayor Lawrence said he understood the Peoples Natural Gas Co. of Pittsburgh had contracted for a quantity of gas to be supplied for the Pittsburgh area for 20 years.

"I am now advised that in a recent case an examiner of the Federal Power Commission has recommended that one of these contracts, under which gas would be purchased for western Pennsylvania, be set aside," he added, "and the gas diverted to other companies along the route of the Texas Eastern pipe line."

NEW EXPEDITER

Appointment of Pendergast was announced yesterday by Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods. He has been serving as action regional expediter since Piet Hofstra was granted a sick leave last May.

Set Dates For Phone Hearings

Harrisburg, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Public Utility commission will begin its hearings on the proposed $25,000,000 a year boost in telephone rates December 15-17.

The PUC said the hearings will be part of its investigation to determine the fairness and reasonableness of the Bell Telephone company's statewide rate boost. The proposed new tariff was ordered delayed until July 21 last week by the commission to permit the inquiry.

Members of the commission will sit in during the three days of hearings before Jay Eisman, of Philadelphia, in the PUC office here.

At the same time, the PUC Arthur J. Dinkin, of Meadville, and Lloyd S. Benjamin, of Harrisburg, commission attorneys, have been assigned to assist Chief Counsel Charles E. Thomas, of Stoneboro, in the investigation.

PMA Club Adds Four New Members

Workmen Rescue Girl From Mud

Abington, Pa., Nov. 30 (P)—Four men, digging furiously in mire, rescued a 10-year-old girl yesterday after a 40-minute battle. The child, Barbara Bear, was pulled from a mud-filled excavation after several rescue attempts failed.

Barbara slipped into the excavation while en route home from school. Several playmates tried to pull her out, but she sank deeper. Her sister, Sandra, 8, ran home and told her mother, Mrs. Georgia Bear.

Mrs. Bear enlisted the aid of a neighbor. His efforts failed and he sought help from a passing milk truck operator. Still the child sank deeper in the mud.

Commandeering shovels both men began to dig. Two men from a nearby housing project came along and joined in. The combined efforts of the four men freed the girl.

Barbara was treated for exposure by her family doctor and sent to bed.

The location of the nesting grounds of the whooping crane, North America's rarest and tallest bird, is still a mystery despite intensive search by prominent biologists.

Baltimore Livestock

CATTLE—Higher asking prices retarded action in opening rounds but buyers' demand narrowed in later dealings and trading remained rather slow throughout the session. Salable supply estimated at 2,000 head included approximately 700 head held from last week. Count was 36 per cent heavier than the number on sale a week ago today but it measured a decrease of 19 per cent from the corresponding day in 1947.

Salable supply included the equivalent of 34 loads of slaughter steers, 2 loads of medium and 1 load of stockers and feeders. Bulk of steers consisted of short-fed and grain-and-corn offerings and excluded high-grade and choice offerings.

Most of stocker and feeder supply made up of less than earload lots. Prices in slaughter steers department mostly steady compared with close of last week or around 50 cents higher than a week ago. Few loads of medium to mostly good grade, $12.50-12.90. Few lots of common to low-medium, $12-23.35.

Slaughter beefers also largely on a price basis and unchanged compared with last week. A load of medium to mostly good 841-pounders, day's top $28.25. Most of the cow division ruled unevenly steady to 50 cents higher compared with last Friday.

Some late sales failed to show as much advance as noted in early rounds. Good cows, $21-22. Bulk of common and medium, $18-20.50. Canners, $15-17. Only odd head of shelly canners held $14 mark.

Bulls cleared very slowly and held mostly unchanged compared with late last week but spots as much as 50 cents higher. An individual good head of 2 1/2-year-old, mostly good sausage, $22-25; common and medium, $18.50-21.50. Few odd head lightweight dairy-type, good grade bulls, $17. Stocker and feeder cattle also met a slow trade but showed little net change when compared with late last week. Run consisted mainly of medium and good grade 600-550 pounds, $23-26.35. Few good grade under 500-pound stock calves, $27.50.

CALVES—Dealings moderately active in the calf department and ruled mostly steady with last Friday but less than a dozen choice calves at $35 to raise the top $1 above last Friday's peak and establish a new all-time high mark. The Baltimore yards. Good and choice formed a small percentage of the total, 200-400 pounds and medium, $29-29 and odd culls to $14.

ROGS—Held unchanged compared with last Friday in a fairly active trade. Around four hundred of mostly choice 180-225-pound weights. Good and choice trucked in lots of 180-225-pound barrows and gilts, $23.75-24.25; 250-275 pounds, $23.75-24.25; 275-300 pounds, $22.75-23.25; 300-350 pounds, $21.75-22.25; 350-400 pounds, $20.75-21.25; 400-450 pounds, $19.75-20.25; 450-500 pounds, $18.75-19.25; 500-550 pounds, $17.75-18.25; 550-600 pounds, $16.75-17.25; 600-650 pounds, $15.75-16.25; 650-700 pounds, $14.75-15.25; 700-750 pounds, $13.75-14.25; 750-800 pounds, $12.75-13.25; 800-850 pounds, $11.75-12.25; 850-900 pounds, $10.75-11.25; 900-950 pounds, $9.75-10.25; 950-1000 pounds, $8.75-9.25; 1000-1050 pounds, $7.75-8.25; 1050-1100 pounds, $6.75-7.25; 1100-1150 pounds, $5.75-6.25; 1150-1200 pounds, $4.75-5.25; 1200-1250 pounds, $3.75-4.25; 1250-1300 pounds, $2.75-3.25; 1300-1350 pounds, $1.75-2.25; 1350-1400 pounds, $0.75-1.25; 1400-1450 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1450-1500 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1500-1550 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1550-1600 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1600-1650 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1650-1700 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1700-1750 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1750-1800 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1800-1850 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1850-1900 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1900-1950 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 1950-2000 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2000-2050 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2050-2100 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2100-2150 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2150-2200 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2200-2250 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2250-2300 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2300-2350 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2350-2400 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2400-2450 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2450-2500 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2500-2550 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2550-2600 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2600-2650 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2650-2700 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2700-2750 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2750-2800 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2800-2850 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2850-2900 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2900-2950 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 2950-3000 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3000-3050 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3050-3100 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3100-3150 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3150-3200 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3200-3250 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3250-3300 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3300-3350 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3350-3400 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3400-3450 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3450-3500 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3500-3550 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3550-3600 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3600-3650 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3650-3700 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3700-3750 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3750-3800 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3800-3850 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3850-3900 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3900-3950 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 3950-4000 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4000-4050 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4050-4100 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4100-4150 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4150-4200 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4200-4250 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4250-4300 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4300-4350 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4350-4400 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4400-4450 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4450-4500 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4500-4550 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4550-4600 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4600-4650 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4650-4700 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4700-4750 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4750-4800 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4800-4850 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4850-4900 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4900-4950 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 4950-5000 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5000-5050 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5050-5100 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5100-5150 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5150-5200 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5200-5250 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5250-5300 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5300-5350 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5350-5400 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5400-5450 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5450-5500 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5500-5550 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5550-5600 pounds, $0.25-0.75; 5600-5650 pounds, $0.25-0.75;

DISCOUNT SUB STORY

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Navy officials today discounted reports of an unknown submarine in the Gulf of Mexico. Privately, they were writing the whole thing off as a mirage inspired by enthusiasm. The crew of a training plane from the Corpus Christi, Texas, naval air base reported Friday they thought they saw a periscope 20 miles off the U. S. coast.

Attorney Eugene V. Bulleit acted as master of ceremonies for the program. Charles Eicholtz read minutes of the first meeting and outlined the early history of the club from the time of its founding in 1920 with 20 members until it started holding meetings regularly at the YWCA in 1929. Previous to 1929 it met in the Eagle Hotel and other hotels and restaurants throughout the town.
